The first non-Native American settlers in Kossuth were Ambrose A. and Asa Call, who arrived in 1854. The brothers took land along the river and started a community known as Call's Grove. Later, at the suggestion of Mrs. Asa Call, the name was changed to Algona, not because of any link to the Algonqui Indians, but because Mrs. Call had read the name in a book and thought it lovely.

Below is a list of words taken from the paragraph above. Arrange them in alphabetical order (1-10) on the lines below:

1. ________________ settlers
2. ________________ Algona
3. ________________ brothers
4. ________________ Kossuth
5. ________________ Call
6. ________________ Indians
7. ________________ Grove
8. ________________ river
9. ________________ Algonquin
10. ________________ community